VOL. 45 No. 3

COUNTDOWN - SIX (6)

JUNE 2019

Message in a Bottle

March 13, 1977 on a sandbar in the middle of the Chunky River (tributary of the Chickasawhay River) located in east-central Mississippi,

During summer months, the Chunky River's depth is at a 4 feet or less. It's unlikely the group of people were actually stranded.

Larry has contacted the Meridian, MS Tourists Bureau and the Bureau may have located some of the participants, so they live on to share their story.

Mississippi, sits a group of young people probably enjoying their spring break.

One can only imagine they were really amusing themselves with mischievous ideas and innocent conspiracies.

A 32 oz. Coke bottle, a napkin from Strutter's Fried Chicken, a pencil and a little imagination and the story begins.

The note summary refers to the group being stranded on a sandbar and they are running out of food, but please send them beer and reefer as they are desperate.

Fast forward 42 years.

Larry and Tammy Webb of Crystal Beach are making their daily run to the Crystal Beach Post Office via their golf cart on the beach.

The Webb's make an effort to keep the beach clean and free of the hazards of glass items.

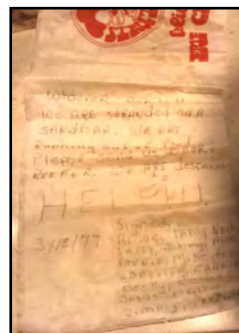

They spot a glass bottle laying on top of the seaweed, near Barrel 55 at the O'Neal Street entrance to the beach. They stop and pick it up and realize it is sealed and contains a note.

Then, history is unveiled.

Larry has contacted the Meridian, MS Tourist Bureau, who thinks they may have located some of the people who are actually listed on the note.

Tammy and Larry Webb

COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IN A BAG!

Bay Vue United Methodist Church will be starting up their summer beach ministry in June, which is held under a banner that states, "Free water. Free grace. Free prayer." This ministry's goal is to be a presence for Christ on the beach and offer water to each passersby, as well as be available to pray for the crowd around them or with anyone who comes up and requests prayer. Bay Vue will also serve free food one time a month between June and August, so if you see them, come in and visit.

As a new addition to this ministry, Bay Vue United Methodist Women (UMW) created "Vacation Bible School In A Bag". During the summer months, many churches hold Vacation Bible School (VBS) on their church grounds, but Bay Vue UMC decided to reach beyond their walls this summer.

Bay Vue UMW will be handing out "VBS in a Bag" materials to children on the beach as a way of showing God's love to local and visiting children at Crystal Beach. The bags contain Christian coloring books and assorted materials and toys for them to take home and enjoy. The fun activities in each bag plant seeds of faith, and encourage children who have a church home already.

The Bay Vue Beach Ministry will be cooking hot dogs and handing out the "VBS in a bag" materials on JUNE 8TH. If you are at the beach, plan on coming by for food, fun and VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IN A BAG! There will be plenty for all.

OUR WONDERFUL MEN!

Men's Prayer Breakfast proved again how generous and talented they are. The group hosted their annual Mother's Day Monday morning breakfast honoring community ladies on May 13, 2019. Roger Molaison, Bill Lloyd and Bob Morgan created delicious banana, blueberry and traditional pancakes. Bacon Man Marcel Elissalde fried two and a half pounds of bacon. (All was consumed.) President George Strong helped with the set up, and took care of fruit and drinks. Dennis Stafford, Robert Uhlenberg and Jim Dinkins assisted.

The only work the ladies did was show up and enjoy the offerings. They enjoyed! Women made several trips back for more pancakes and bacon. The gentlemen waited until all the ladies were served before filling their plates. George provided an opening prayer and read a lesson from The Upper Room. What a delightful morning! The ladies ate, visited and watched as the guys did all the cooking and cleaning up.

We recipients of this great feast thank all our wonderful men for our wonderful breakfast! We are already looking forward to next year.

Ear today gone tomorrow

Rickey Thibodeaux

Two parallel lines of Pittsburgh steel formed a gigantic equal sign, traveling east to west as far as the eye could see. Oaken timbers bore the weight of the Southern Pacific locomotives and their companion railroad cars that traveled the route.

But the summer day in 1963 when my old childhood friends Stinky Sawyer, Shorty Longfellow—an oxymoron of stature, and I encountered the rusty metal; we neither smelled the fumes of an engine nor did we see the red light of a caboose chugging along the deserted track.

“Wonder if a train is gonna pass through here anytime soon?” asked Shorty, pulling a coin from his pocket. “I’d like to see a train squash this penny.”

“Yeah!” said Stinky. “That would be cool. I’ve got a couple of pennies, too.”

Even at a young age, I respected currency. “Now why would ya’ll want to go and ruin perfectly good money?” I asked. “You can’t but Pixie Sticks with a flattened penny.”

All three of us youngsters craved Pixie Sticks, and our orange, red and green tongues bore testimony of our own particular favorite flavors.

“By gosh, Rickey,” said the red-tongued Shorty, “it’s only a penny.”

Green tongue wagging, Stinky chimed in, “I’ve got a pocket full of Pixies, and I can spare 2 cents.”

Grabbing an orange Pixie from my shirt pocket, I shook it in the direction of my two compatriots. “Ya’ll go ahead. I ain’t gonna waste my money.”

Mouths teeming with powdery, tart candy, we conducted a colorful conversation on whether or not a train would soon appear. Fortunately, Stinky had recently watched a Roy Rogers movie and offered us this idea.

“Roy’s sidekick slid off his horse, dropped to his knees and put his ear right there on the ground,” said Stinky. “He told Roy it sounded as if the rustlers were about a half-mile away. It was really groovy. You suppose that trick will work just as well on a train track?”

Shorty and I nodded in agreement, marveling at Stinky’s inspiration.

“Let me do it” I offered.

“Ain’t fair!” fussed Shorty. “We gotta choose by vote.”

“It was my idea,” declared Stinky. “I’m gonna do it.”

The squabble lasted more than five minutes before we eventually settled on the ‘one-potato-two-potato’ voting method. Shorty, the runt and luckiest of the group, won the spud selection hands down.

Shorty dropped to his knees, put his palms on the ground, leaned forward and placed his left ear on the steel track. Did you know that a July sun can really fir up a metal train track? Well, Shorty didn’t.

The screech that erupted from his mouth didn’t stop until he jumped up, grabbed his left ear and fell over backwards into a blackberry patch. That’s when the berry stickers piercing his buttocks changed the pitch of his screech to a wail. Apparently, Shorty found his sticker bed uncomfortable, because he bolted out of the briars, ran forward, tripped over the track and fell headlong into a muck-filled ditch.

One cannot accuse me of being a cold-hearted person; however, at this point in my life my sensitive nature had not yet blossomed.

I laughed loudly at Shorty’s expense. Stinky, always quick to react, tried vainly to cool off the offending body part by shoving a handful of wet muck into the ear. Shorty quit wailing, but was most unappreciative of Stinky’s humane act.

When it was all said and done, our dear childhood friend suffered a thorny backside, a nasty knot on his forehead and third degree burns on his ear, which required a skin graft. Doctors removed a small patch of skin from Shorty’s thigh and stitched it to his ear.

Now when Shorty has a hard time hearing someone, speak, he cups his hand around his left ear and shouts, “Thigh can’t hear you!”

Shorty never did have a very good sense of humor.

C’est la vie!

NURSE ON THE BEACH

By: Connie Ward, MSN, RN

Heart disease is still the No. 1 killer in America. Below are the BEST ways you can boost your heart health and reduce your risk of heart attack and stroke by loving your heart with every meal!

Don't let excuses like: I don't want to give up the foods I love; I'm busy, and cooking healthy meals takes too much time and effort; I don't know how to make healthy choices; or I need healthy food ideas the whole family will enjoy.

Four steps to a healthy heart:

1. More fruits and vegetables. Two cups of fruit and 2 ½ cups of vegetables per day. Leading the list: blueberries, cantaloupe, oranges, strawberries, sweet potatoes, asparagus, broccoli, red cabbage, spinach and bell peppers. (One serving size is equivalent to a tennis ball).

2. Dish out proper portions. This important step will prevent from overeating and gaining weight from excess calories. Sizes: 1 cup = tennis ball * ½ cup = computer mouse * 1 ounce = 4 dice

3 ounces = a deck of cards for meat * 2 tablespoons = ping pong ball for sour cream, peanut butter, cream cheese.

3. Healthier fats, Less sodium (salt)

Cut back on saturated and trans fats!!! NOW. These fats are lining your blood vessels with fats that turn into plaque. (Like the cement they chip off your teeth at the dentist's office). Yuk!

An example of the bad fats is: butter, lard, cream, shortening, bacon fat grease, fatty meat, deep fried foods. Replace these with healthier fats like polyunsaturated or monosaturated fats.

Cook with olive or canola oil instead of margarine or butter. Eat fish, like salmon and tuna twice a week. Add sliced avocado to your sandwich instead of cheese. Sprinkle nuts or flaxseed on your salad instead of bacon bits. Make this a goal and stick to it. Olive oil can be used in place of butter or margarine on toast or bread.

4. Check labels.

* Calories per serving.

* Fats: choose foods that get less than one-third of their calories from fat.

* Sodium: Seventy percent of consumed salt comes from packaged foods, processed foods, and restaurant food. Pick products that have low salt/sodium content. Aim for 140mg or less. Lemon, vinegars, red or white wine can substitute for salt on your food.

* Fiber: Get at least 25-38 grams per day. Your colon will thank you.

* Sugars: Watch for high amounts of added sugar, fructose, corn syrup, sucrose or glucose they are all sugar. Many juices contain as high as 38mgs of sugar! This is way too much.

Don't forget to walk whenever possible on that beautiful beach! Spring is here and much more sun! Walk in the morning or evening and stay hydrated. Sun block use (liberally) apply every 2 hours when outside.

See you next month for more health tips!

Hurricane Season Runs from June 1 to November 30 Be Prepared

5 East Steps to Follow

1. Know where to go in the event of an evacuation. Check evacuation routes with your county's EOCs.
2. Have a go-bag prepared with the important documents and necessary supplies.

(Three-day supply of non-perishable food and water —one gallon per person, per day for drinking and hygiene purposes; Battery-powered or hand crank radio (NOAA Weather Radio, if possible); Flashlight and extra batteries; First aid kit, medications and medical items; Copies of all important documents (proof of address, deed/lease to home, passports, birth certificates, insurance policies); Extra cash)

3. Should you stay at home, have adequate provisions on hand. Plan to be without power for at least a week.
4. Have an emergency communications plan set up with family members.
5. Sign up for community-wide alerts.

TEACHER APPRECIATION!

Teachers! They plant seeds of knowledge, they inspire our dreams, they protect and defend us, they educate and love us even when we are not being particularly lovable, and yes, from time to time, they correct. What would we do without them? We can all remember some teacher who made a difference in our lives.

Bay Vue United Methodist Women (UMW) showed their gratitude to Crenshaw School's faculty and staff during National Teacher Appreciation Week, May 5 – May 11, 2019.

The ladies prepared salads and desserts for lunch at the school Wednesday, May 8. UMW President Cindy Hunt and members served up myriad types of unique salads and deliciously divine desserts. Crenshaw educators came by the room to load up on these succulent offerings and enjoyed a quiet lunch with fellow workers.

UMW had a grand time honoring these folk and were delighted to show their gratitude. They agreed that teachers change the lives of millions of children every day, and their impact extends far beyond the boundaries of the classroom. Thank you, teachers. We appreciate YOU!

Beachcombing with Stefanie "Lessoned Learned"

Stefanie Voss

The one thing all of the communities on the peninsula have in common is we all live on a stretch of paradise unlike any other. We all love the peace and joy the gulf brings us. We receive joy from our beach combing. Our souls get soothed by the waves, as our skin gets kissed by the sun. Our minds find peace simply by putting our toes in the sand. We are a quiet place, away from the chaos of the cities. Plus the fishing is awesome!

We are so blessed to live here that we get excited for visitors to come, because this place is so phenomenal, we want to share it, to let others taste our way of life here. We enjoy meeting who come here to vacation in a place where we live our every day lives. It reminds us how special a place we live in and we are proud to show it off.

Living in a tourist destination we are all well aware that there are certain peak dates in the summer where we do have large crowds of people here. The stores get crowded, the traffic gets heavy and the beach gets full. We know that our guests are on vacation and that they will behave as such. We know that trash isn't always picked up, music is played too loud and too late. We know the tourists are in vacation mode and don't pay attention to others around them on the beach. And we know as well that some tourists drive fast and reckless on the beach. And we are well aware that some are drinking and driving. We know these things, it's part of the price of living in paradise.

We love to recommend good places to eat. The best houses to rent. The best place to take your kids crabbing. It makes us feel good when visitors go home with great memories.

On the weekend of May 18th and 19th, we were inundated with visitors. Some were here for an event 'GO TOPLESS WEEKEND', which is an event for jeep owners and enthusiasts. They have held this event on our beaches for several years now. They have a lot of fun and make great memories. But this year was different. I think a lot of our visitors who were not jeepers took the 'GO TOPLESS WEEKEND' as a license for debauchery and disrespect. More people showed up than was expected. The tides were extremely high that weekend, which just added to the chaotic storm that ensued. With almost no beach to drive on, congestion and gridlock was inevitable. The drinking, drugs, and lawlessness from the go topless party crashers created a havoc that overwhelmed our first responders. Neighboring counties sent their first responders to help. Our peninsula was completely overrun with thousands of people who were acting like they were on spring break in Rio De Janeiro.

The crowds were simply too big. Wrecks, fights, assaults, a fatality. We all felt violated and disrespected by the time it was over, and still do. It's going to take time to heal from this, but we will. And we are healing and learning from that experience. The following weekend, Memorial weekend, there was a strong police presence. The red cross even set a tent up on the beach. It's a great feeling to be able to welcome visitors to our beaches knowing that the biggest concern will be how fantastic everyone's memories will be.

Hwy. 87 - Continuing Saga

Darlene Nelsen

May 28 - While Galveston County issued an alert mid-morning, there's nothing like being surprised watching the sea, foam, and debris roll across Highway 87 at 6AM, well before the curve where Hwy 124 and Hwy 87 intersect.

Trucks and a few cars drove through, others, decided to turn around.

Part of the issue is high tides and no web-cam, the other part is waiting eleven (11) years.

THANK YOU, CHANNEL 13 AND EAGLES!

Meteorologist Rachel Briers and cameraman Rudy Villarreal of Channel 13 News visited the Bolivar Peninsula in April. Mrs. Briers wanted to learn about the effects of Hurricane IKE. This became part of a Houston ABC report about flooding and premiered on May 25, 2019. Eagles members and others gathered at FOE 3719 to watch the report.

Several of Rachel's interviewees appeared in the segment. Gulf Coast Market (The Big Store) owner Keith Zahar, Eagles Trustee L.B. Hunt, Eagles Treasurer Jim Denys, Stingaree owner Brad Vratis, Water Board Leader George Strong and resident Linda C. Elissalde shared memories of post IKE experiences.

"Big" Jim Denys provided statuettes to honor the best interviewee and best supporting interviewee. Qualifications for awards were: You had to have the longest and second longest interviews on the show. You had to be present at the viewing. No one was exactly sure who had the most moments, but George Strong was present and won The Best Interviewee accolade. Linda C. Elissalde had only a few seconds on the show, but received The Best Supporting Award. (Go figure!) Actually everybody involved deserved a statuette, so many folk had pictures made with it while standing in front of Jim's hanging red carpet.

Eagles present at this event were supportive of all participants. Thank you, Channel 13 and Crystal Beach Eagles, for sponsoring a fun and informative event!

2019 KILO - A Walk to Remember

Claudia Perkins

It all started with Ken Meyer, who walked 628 miles in 2016 to raise Post Traumatic Stress Disorder awareness for veterans, first responders and others suffering with PTSD. His walk ended at the then FrogFest grounds at Crystal Beach, after a Kilo 19 walk from the beach by the ferry to the event grounds.

The 2019 KILO 19 - A Walk to Remember has become a community event since.

And, traditionally each year Keep Bolivar Beautiful proudly displays its 20' x 30' American flag, a gift from the Arlington 4th of July Parade Association, to honor those in the Kilo 19 march.

This place, Bolivar Peninsula, is special. And this is just another amazing example of this close-knit and patriotic community.

And You Paid a Company in New Jersey for This

Mack Hall

Last week a 5th-grade child in Lumberton suffering through the STAAR test (which is the successor to the TABS, and then the TEAMS, and then the TAAS, and then the TAKS, all to the greater glory of the Texas Education Agency) found an illustration which contained a bad word.

You and I would agree that it is a bad word, though the purveyors of what now passes for popular entertainment are pleased to promote it to all, and it is flung around like poo by men and women of all ages in social situations. Hearing a bespectacled, demure-looking granny snorting the f-bomb in a coffee shop while surrounded by children does not speak well for contemporary mutual respect.

The Texas Education Agency, which is what bossy old Miz Grundy became when she went off to college and put on even more airs, cycles through a lot of taxpayer dollars to take care of themselves, bother other people, and inflict cycles of alphabet-soup exams on children.

The TEA is fond of bullying districts, and as an acquaintance more familiar with their 'tude than I says, the TEA should now taste their own cod liver oil and be required to submit to the local school districts a three-part corrective action plan and regular status reports, and if they fail in remediating the matter of naughty words on their made-in-New Jersey tests to understand that their elected board (yes, you elected them) is subject to being replaced by an appointed board and a state monitor.

According to The Texas Tribune (<https://salaries.texas Tribune.org/state-comptroller-payroll/departments/texas-education-agency/positions/commissioner-texas-education/>), Texas Education Commissioner Mike Morath receives $220,375 annually for his service to the children of Texas, so, yes, for that kind of cabbage he should be watching his own office and its doings.

The various exit-level exams used in this state are sold to Texas by Pearson Publishing, a British company headquartered in London and with marketing tentacles all over the world, and by Educational Testing Service in New Jersey, which is far more foreign than Britain.

A salient question is why Texas families are taxed by the Texas state government to pay out-of-state and out-of-country companies to generate tests for Texas children in Texas schools.

Are there no universities, schools of education, and publishers in Texas who can build exams (with or without awkward pictures) and publish textbooks for Texas children, or are we to be forever a cultural colony somewhere beyond Carlo Levi's Eboli?

OLD-FASHIONED JULY 4 PICNIC RECIPES

Who doesn't enjoy a picnic? Here are some old-fashioned recipes for an old-fashioned picnic.

Enjoy and have a safe July 4!

FOURTH OF JULY HOT DOG FIRE STICKS

1 can refrigerated breadstick dough
2 packages hot dogs (16)
16 thick slices Colby cheese
16 skewers

First take your skewers and stick them all the way through your hot dogs leaving about an inch and a half exposed out of the top of each hot dog. Then take a piece of breadstick dough and carefully wrap it around the hot dog until you get to the top. Place the wrapped dogs on a Silpat (non-stick baking liner) or parchment paper and bake according to the package directions for the breadstick dough. It took us about 20 minutes at 350 degrees. While the hot dogs are cooking take out your cheese slices. Then using a small star cookie cutter, cut out your stars. Depending on how big or small your cookie cutter is will determine how many stars you get out of each slice of cheese. After your dogs have cooled for 2-3 minutes stick the star through the skewer at the top.

Use a pail with a styrofoam ball hidden by crinkly papers to display them. This would also be a great way to display them at a gathering. You can also just layer them on top of each other on a plate.

CUBAN SLIDERS FOR A CROWD

4 tablespoons unsalted butter, at room temperature, divided
15 slider buns, halved
1½ tablespoons mustard
15 slices ham (your choice)
15 dill pickle chips
7 slices Swiss cheese

Preheat the oven to 350°F. Grease a 9-by-13-inch pan with 2 tablespoons of the butter. Open the halved buns and spread the mustard evenly on the inside of the top and bottom halves. Place the bottom halves snugly into the base of the prepared pan.

Place a slice of ham on each bottom half and then top with a pickle chip. Arrange the cheese evenly over all the buns in the pan.

Place the top halves of the buns on each sandwich and use your hands to butter the surface of the buns with the remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Tent the pan with foil and bake until the sliders are heated through, 10 to 12 minutes. Serve warm. Serves 15.

CLASSIC POTATO SALAD

8 medium Yukon gold potatoes, cooked, peeled and diced
1- 1/2 cups mayonnaise
2 tablespoons apple cider vinegar
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
1 tablespoon yellow mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 celery ribs, diced
1/4 cup onion, diced
5 hard-boiled eggs diced or sliced

Boil potatoes in salted water 15 to 20 minutes or until done. Cool to room temperature and peel.

Dice the boiled potatoes and put into a bowl.

In another bowl mix together mayonnaise, apple cider vinegar, sugar, mustard, salt, celery seed, and pepper until well blended. Add the diced potatoes, celery and onions to the mixture and stir until everything is coated.

Stir in the eggs.

Sprinkle with paprika (optional).

Cover and refrigerate until chilled. Stir before serving, and enjoy!

BEST POTATO SALAD TIPS

I always choose Yukon Gold potatoes when making my mom's classic potato salad recipe. These are nice and creamy but they don't fall apart when you cook the potatoes. The peels also come off easily after cooking which makes everything so much easier!

SMALL FRIED APPLE PIES

2 Pillsbury pie crusts – or make your own
2 apples
¼ Cup Sugar (optional)
¼ teaspoon cinnamon (optional)

Cinnamon and sugar were ingredients that were more expensive in the past and were hard to come by during the depression so they were probably not a part of this recipe then.

First, peel the apples and chop them up.

Put them in a pot and cook them down on very low heat and mash.

Roll out the pie crust on a lightly floured board. Using a 3 inch cookie cutter, cut out about 7 circles.

Place a scant teaspoon of the cooked apples in the middle of the round.

Using very cold water and your fingers, wet all the way around edges of the pie dough circle, fold it over and crimp edges with the fork and make a slit in the top.

Put a little oil in a skillet and let it get hot first, then place the little pies in the skillet and cook for 2-3 minutes on each side.

Take them out of the oil when they are cooked and place on a wire rack with paper towels on them to take off the excess oil.

ICING FOR FRIED PIES

1 teaspoon softened butter
1 cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1-3 tablespoons milk

Whip that up with a fork and then put the glaze over the warm pies.

OLD-FASHIONED LEMONADE

1- 1/2 c. sugar
1- 1/2 c. fresh lemon juice (from about 10 lemons), plus 2 lemons, sliced
Berries and fresh mint sprigs, for garnish

In a small saucepan, combine sugar and 1- 1/2 cups water; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until the sugar dissolves, 3 to 4 minutes. Remove from heat and cool completely.

In a large pitcher, combine lemon juice, 1- 1/2 cups sugar syrup, and 4 cups cold water (add remaining sugar syrup to adjust sweetness, if desired). Refrigerate until chilled.

Makes 7 cups

Deadlines & County Tax Office News

The second half of the split or half payment installment is due July 1st. Split payment coupons were mailed May 15th so be on the lookout.

Those having difficulty paying 2018 property taxes or who have missed an installment payment will receive a delinquent notice before the end of the month. Tax Assessor/Collector Cheryl E. Johnson urges property owners to pay the delinquent taxes by July 1st in order to avoid delinquent attorney fee that will be added July 2nd.

Unpaid taxes accrue interest at a rate of 1% per month beginning in February. Penalties are assessed at 6% the first month and increase 1% each month until July at which time they jump to 12% of the unpaid balance. "What this means is that penalties and interest total 18% July 2nd. Add to that the 15% to 20% delinquent attorney fee and a property owner will owe the base tax plus a total of from 33% to 38% in penalties, interest and attorney fees," stated Johnson.

Those unable to pay their entire tax bill should contact the Property Tax Department (409-766-2481) or toll free (877-766-2284) or come to the Galveston Office at 722 Moody between 8 am and 5 pm Monday through Friday in order to make arrangements to pay. "Please avoid the unnecessary additional cost of the 15% to 20% attorney fee," urged Johnson. "We want to work with our property owners and get these taxes taken care of as soon as possible in order to reduce the burden of unnecessary additional costs."

Cash, checks, credit and debit cards are accepted at any of the four full time Tax Office locations in Galveston, League City, Santa Fe, or Texas City or at the Friendswood satellite office each Thursday and Friday or Crystal Beach the 3rd Tuesday of each month. For directions or locations, please call (toll free) 1-877-766-2284. Specific questions regarding your property taxes may be directed to a Property Tax Specialist by calling 409-766-2481.

Customers may also go online and pay via credit card or electronic check at www.galcotax.com and click on the large red button to locate their account. Credit card payments incur an additional convenience fee of 2.5%. Payments may be mailed or left in GCTO drop boxes, paid online (www.galcotax.com) via electronic check ($1 bank fee) or credit card (2.5% merchant fee) or credit card via telephone (toll free) at 1-866-865-1433 (English) or 1-866-865-1435 (Spanish).

JEEPS COME! JEEPS GO!

I admit that as a resident of Crystal Beach, Jeep Weekend is not my favorite time of the year. Although there are many very nice people with jeeps, it did seem that 2019 had a lot of less than charming guests. HWY 87 and the beach started filling up on Thursday. By Friday both were impassible for home dwellers. Jeeps traveled east and west. Jeep visitors set up all styles of homes near the dunes. Many jeepers sported multiple flags. Some were fine, but others were really offensive. I was surprised that flag sellers would even offer them. There have always been people coming in from the beach to use facilities under unoccupied houses. Unfortunately some Jeep guests did also. Excessive drinking can lead to some very bad and sad accidents. Loud music pounded throughout the nights.

Sunday is a trying day during Jeep Weekend. It took us an hour and ½ last year to travel five miles from our church to our home. One nice Jeep driver stopped for us. We decided to leave church early this year. That meant missing the great food laid out by Cindy Hunt and her group. (Methodists never miss a meal.) This time the trip was better because a nice policeman stood in the middle of the road and directed traffic at Singaree light.

I have been to Galveston during Motorcycle Weekend. It seems to be much more organized. There are booths, cordoned off areas, and room for traffic. I am proud that Texas has open beaches, but could there be designated areas just for Jeeps during their weekend? Policepersons directing the flow at each of our 3 lights would speed up the movement of all cars.

I took some pictures of the trash left near our beach after most of the campers were gone. It looked as if folk had just dumped garbage and driven away. Probably only a few Jeepers leave their trash behind, but it reflects on all Jeep visitors. Jeep owners might plan on some type of garbage detail to be sure that the beach is as pristine when they leave as when they arrive.

I do hope that we do not have to resort to what others residents have done. That is leave our home every May because Jeep Weekend has become such a bad experience. Jeeps Come! Jeeps Go! Jeep Weekends need to be a happy occasion not only for Jeepers, but for the residents who contribute to our community all year long.

RECENT HAPPENINGS IN THE LEGISLATURE Mayes Middleton, State Representative

TWIA Rate Freeze Legislation Passes House

Many property owners in House District 23 and all along the Gulf Coast are insured by the Texas Windstorm Insurance Association. As TWIA policyholders, they are subject to ever-increasing rate hikes year-after-year with no choice but to pay them. This expense has outpaced inflation and has exceeded property taxes and mortgage payments for many coastal residents. Always a heavy burden, these rate hikes are downright cruel in the wake of the devastation wrought by Hurricane Harvey. I am proud to be a joint author on House Bill 4534, which passed the House on Friday of last week and will give coastal homeowners some relief. The bill includes a 2-year premium rate freeze for TWIA policyholders and establishes a review board that will assess and make recommendations on TWIA's future funding structure with a view to protect ratepayers. I am hopeful that this legislation will become law so that our Gulf Coast can finally have relief from the growing burden of TWIA premium hikes.

Property Tax Homestead Exemption laid out in committee

Last Thursday, I laid out House Bill 3127 in the House Ways and Means Committee. This bill, brought to me by the City of Mont Belvieu in Chambers County, would allow local jurisdictions the option to grant a 100% homestead exemption against the valuation of residence homesteads for the jurisdiction. Reforms like this would empower local governments to provide a meaningful reduction in property taxes for their residents at their discretion.

Ban on Red Light Cameras Passes House

Yesterday, House Bill 1631--banning the use of Red Light Cameras--passed the Texas House. I was proud to be a co-author and stand in support of this important bill to protect Texans' constitutional right to face their accuser in court and with due process. The bill now moves to the Senate, where I am hopeful it will soon pass into law.

It was an honor to just stand and watch as these guys, and a few ladies, march, chanting cadence. Their flag decorated Jeeps followed.

Their mission is to support and raise awareness of veterans issues such as PTSD and 22 vets committing suicide every day.

Wolf Spiders

Copyright © Vince Brach, Ph.D. All rights reserved.

Vince Brach is a semi-retired naturalist, writer, and science teacher who divides his time between Tyler, TX and his getaway on Crystal Beach. Vince earned his BS in biology from USC in Los Angeles and his Ph.D. from the University of Miami, Coral Gables. He has published over 100 articles in magazines such as Texas Highways, Texas Parks & Wildlife, and Highlights for Children. We hope you enjoy his monthly column for The Beach Triton, "The Seaside Naturalist".

Have any questions, photos, or observations about nature on the Bolivar Peninsula? Please send them to Vince at vbrach@sbcglobal.net and he'll try to answer them.

If you change the angle of the light that enters your eyes on a late-evening beach walk, you can often catch a glimpse of one of the fiercest of the grassroot predators. Hold your flashlight along the side of your head as you walk above the strand line, watching for greenish or bluish sparkles in or along the edge of the dune vegetation. There—a tiny flash! Follow the shine to its source, and you will have probably found a wolf spider (Lycosa, Pardosa, or Pirata spp.) on the hunt. While most of these spiders will only be a centimeter or so long, an occasional big one that spans 40 mm or so will turn up. These can make excellent temporary pets, about which I'll have more to say later.

Although there are many different species of wolf spiders, the group has a remarkable similarity of appearance. Almost all of them are velvety gray or brown with stripes on the abdomen and legs. The bristles on these legs are sensitive to nearby movement and greatly aid the spiders in catching prey. Setting wolf spiders apart from most other spiders are the size and positioning of their eight eyes: a row of four smaller forward- and sideways-pointing eyes, two huge forward-pointing eyes, and a final pair of eyes pointing upward and slightly backward. This arrangement gives wolf spiders an impressive four-directional vision. At the back of the eyes of nocturnal wolf spiders is a reflective layer or tapetum. This enhances their night vision, but it is what betrays them to our flashlights when we spot them on the hunt.

Wolf spiders do not spin webs like the familiar garden spider. Instead, they may have lifestyles that range from an almost complete independence from silk to living in a silk-lined burrow or tunnel from which sorties against prey may be launched. Females of our largest species, Lycosa carolinensis, frequently build a "turret" at the top of their burrows from which to spy on and attack passing insects.

Life for a wolf spider begins when it hatches from a fertilized egg along with many siblings. These hatch in a nearly helpless, almost embryonic state, safely enclosed within a silk "cocoon" or egg sac that the mother drags along after her like a purse. After a week or so, the young spiderlings go through a molt or shed and become capable of independent movement. At this time, the mother spider opens her egg sac and helps the babies to crawl onto her abdomen and cephalothorax. The spiderlings form a living blanket on top of their mother and are tolerated by her anywhere except her eyes. The spiderlings do not feed during this "piggyback" stage, but have been observed taking water from dewdrops.

Eventually, the baby wolf spiders mature to the point of independence and leave their mother. They scamper and clamber to the tops of any nearby grass blades and twigs and rapidly spin out a line of thin silk, or gossamer, which may be many times longer than the spider. Caught by the faintest breeze, these silk thread "balloons" whisk the spiderlings off to new territories that can be hundreds of miles away from their hatching sites. Naturalists have collected baby spiders on ship's rigging far out at sea, explaining why spiders are often the first colonists of new volcanic islands.

Upon landing, the spiderlings set about feeding and growing. Wolf spiders are fairly long-lived as spiders go and may survive several years, with the females far outliving the males as in most spiders.

Should you find a wolf spider in your bathtub or under a stone, consider keeping it for a temporary pet. Do not try to pick up a wolf spider with your fingers, as they can deliver a painful bite (and you will probably injure the spider). Scoop it up in a small jar or container like a cigarette box instead. Males can be told from females by their smaller size and the oddly-shaped swollen palps (often wrongly called "feelers") alongside their heads. Males will not live as long as females and often do not feed after they have reached maturity, so you may wish to continue your search for a female.

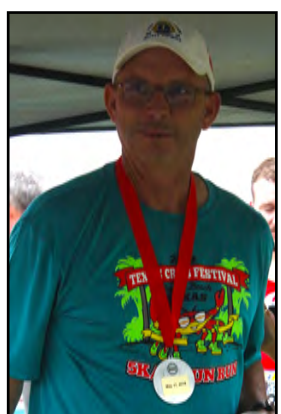

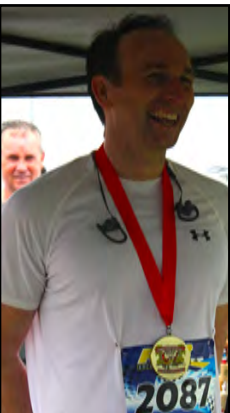

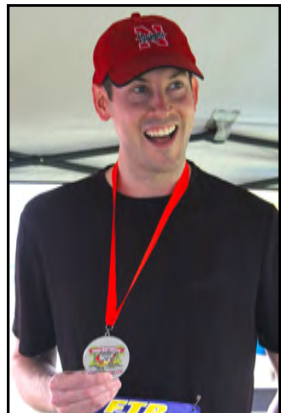

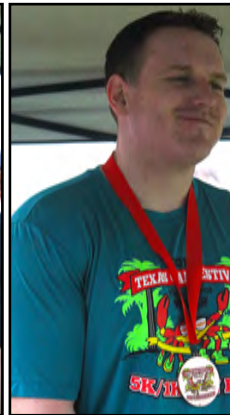

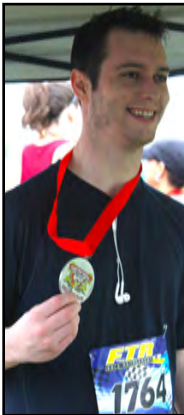

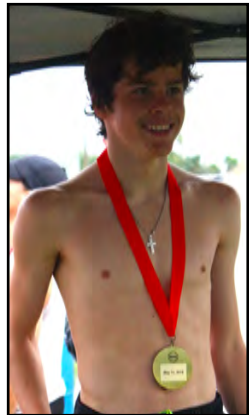

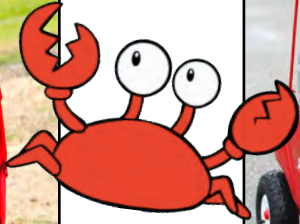

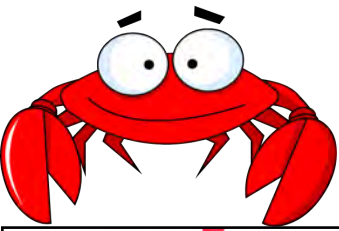

If you catch a wolf spider carrying an egg sac, it is surely a female. A small plastic "habitat" cage or a fishbowl makes an ideal vivarium. Outfit the container with a bed of light sandy soil and a few twigs and hiding places and your spider will be quite at home. To feed it, remove one wing from a freshly-caught live fly or moth and drop it near the spider—WHAM! An occasional misting with a small amount of water will provide your spider with water. If it is a large one, use a pencil to make a burrow for it and your spider may move in and make "improvements" such as a reinforced silk-and-fiber "door". From there, it may perch with just its eyes visible, looking out over its tiny domain like a fairy-tale ogre.

Should you tire of your spider or not wish to play host to 30 or more babies, simply turn it out in your backyard. It will quickly revert to the wild creature that, in fact, it always was.
